

Financial Literacy

What is the significance of saving money? How do I properly plan my income and expenditure? What is the role and the professional potentials of an insurance consultant? How does technology integrate into insurance activities?

The Tipping Point creates the appropriate framework for 5 schools in Greece, enabling students to discuss with professionals through live video sessions under the agenda that the students have created, in order to learn more about the insurance sector, elaborate on the above concepts, acquire healthy consumer patterns and become familiar with the professional opportunities in the modern insurance industry.

The project "Financial Literacy" is implemented with the support of Interamerican company.
